McINTOSH GENEALOGY

In the year 1756 the name McIntosh first appears in the early records of South Carolina. By that year two brothers, John McIntosh the older, and Alexander McIntosh the younger brother, had settled in South Carolina. These two brothers may have emmigrated from Scotland sometime after the reverses suffered at the Battle of Culloden in 1746. They undoubtedly came direct to America, but they may have stopped elsewhere in the colonies before reaching South Carolina. The exact place of their birth in Scotland has not been determined.

There appears to have been a third brother named Gud McIntosh who is mentioned in "Notes on the Lucas and Mikell Families" by William Lucas (See Vol. 27, S.C. Historical and Genealogical Society Magazine, pp. 212-215). However there seems to be no account of him or his descendants.

John, the older brother, obtained a grant for land on Black River a tributary which joins the Great Pee Dee River near Georgetown. Later he settled on the west side of the upper Pee Dee River below Long Bluff in the section known as Welch Neck. The younger brother, Alexander, settled on the east side of the upper Pee Dee a few miles below Long Bluff. By the end of the eighteenth century the owners of the plantations on the river moved their residences to higher land and settled in the village of Society Hill. Later McIntoshs are identified with this community.

John married Ursala Mikell and had five sons, Alexander, John, Lachlan, William and James. John McIntosh died in 1774 just before the Revolution, but his four older sons fought on the side of the colonists. The youngest son, James, was too young to fight in the war.

Alexander, the younger brother, married a Miss James and had three children, Catherine, John and Eleanor. He took a very prominent part in the Revolution. He was elected Lieutenant-Colonel of the Third Regiment South Carolina Continental Line and remained in constant service until his death November 18th, 1780 as a Brigadier General.

The subject of this study is the line of descent from James McIntosh, the youngest son of John McIntosh and Ursala Mikell.

Note: The above facts, except for the Lucas Notes, are related in Alexander Gregg's"History of the Old Cheraws" (1867).

PART I

JAMES McINTOSH

James McIntosh was the fifth and youngest son of John McIntosh, the immigrant and Ursala Mikell, his wife. The date of his birth is uncertain, but it was probably about 1766. He died in 1801 and is buried in the graveyard at Welch Neck Baptist Church, in Society Hill. His date of death is marked on his tomb and also what appears to be, "in the 35th year of his age". It is known that he was too young to take part in the Revolution. That he died at an early age is confirmed by the fact that he left only one child who survived to reach maturity, his son James Hawes McIntosh. Next to his tomb is an exactly similar one with the name "Louise Ann Elizabeth McIntosh, born Society Hill, 11 April died October 5th, 1816". This is the grave of his daughter who died quite young.

James McIntosh married Margaret Lucas, a daughter of John Lucas and Ann Mikell. (John Lucas was the son of William Lucas and Alice Perkins both of whom were born in what is now Delaware.) * Margaret Lucas was born October 9th, 1783 and died November 5th, 1862 as shown on her gravestone in the Welch Neck Baptist church-yard, Society Hill. She died at the age of 79, having been the widow of James McIntosh for sixty-one years and she was considered the matriarch of Society Hill. She is described by her grandson David Gregg McIntosh in his Reminiscenses  as "small of stature, but quite active and possessed of a decided will and force of character". Her husband's early death left her in rather straightened circumstances with two young children to raise. She lived for many years with her son James Hawes McIntosh in the house that he built in Society Hill about 1840 and which is still standing (1977). She was a diligent reader of the Bible and told Bible stories to her grandchildren.

James Hawes McIntosh was the only son of James McIntosh and Margaret Lucas. He was born 19th Sept. 1800 and died 24 Oct. 1858 as shown on his gravestone in Welch Neck Baptist church-yard. (See McIntosh Bible in possession of the family of Rosa McIntosh Dargan, Darlington, S.C. 1977.) Thus he was only one year old at the death of his father. He must have been a man of great energy and ability. He was a very successful merchant and cotton and tobacco planter of Society Hill where he built the house referred to above and raised a family of eight children. He owned Horse Branch and Cedar Creek Plantations and about 109 slaves. He was a member of the Baptist Church and supported St. David's Academy of which he was once a scholar (See"The Last Foray, S.C. Planters of 1860", by Chalmers Gaston). It is not apparent why Hawes became his middle name, but an old plat of Society Hill dated 1786, in possession of Caroliniana Library, shows land owned by Dr. O. Haws.

He married Martha Jamison Gregg, Dec. 15th, 1831. She was born Jan. 18th, 1812 and died Oct. 25th, 1874 in Baltimore at the home of a Mrs. Lee, while on her way home from Towson, Md. the home of her son David Gregg McIntosh (McIntosh Bible). She was the daughter of David Gregg of Mars Bluff near Society Hill and Athalinda Brocky* of Society Hill and is buried Welch Neck Baptist churchyard, Society Hill.

Some time before the Revolution Dr. James Pliny Wilson left Bucks County, Pa., and lived for a few years in Winchester, Va., where he married Miss Martha Jamison. Still before the Revolution they came to Society Hill where Dr. Wilson practiced medicine. Martha Jamison Wilson had a younger sister, Mary Jamison, who lived with her. Mary became engaged to Mr. Brocky and married him much against the wishes of her family. He took her down near Georgetown to live and deserted her just before the birth of her baby. Martha went to her rescue and took care of her sister until she died, then brought the little eleven-day-old baby, Athalinda Brocky, home all those long miles, on horseback, a journey of several days, and raised her as her own child. *(See Memories of Society Hill, S.C. by Mrs. Furman E. Wilson, Pee Dee Historical Society.)

The children of James H. McIntosh and Martha Jamison Gregg were:

1) Louisa Ann Elizabeth McIntosh, born July 26th, 1834 in Society Hill and died there May 21st, 1883 (McIntosh Bible); buried Welch Neck Baptist churchyard. She never married and was named for her father's sister who died young. It was Louisa who made a beautiful Confederate battle flag for her brother David's command. In the autumn of 1861 Col. Maxcy Gregg presented it to the "Pee Dee Rifles" (Co. B., 1st S.C. Regt.) then preparing for winter quarters in Suffolk, Va. It was received by Capt. McIntosh "with a brother's love and a soldier's pride". At this time the Company was consigned two six-pound Howitzers and two three-inch Rifles as well as horses. So the name was changed to the "Pee Dee Artillery" and the flag was carried by McIntosh's Battery throughout the war and although at least one Color Bearer lost his life the flag was never surrendered. At the end of the war the flag was saved by the Guidon, R.C. Nettle who concealed it under his jacket and on his return to S.C. gave it to Louisa McIntosh, who, in 1878 presented it to the survivers of McIntosh's Battery. In 1905 one of this number, Sgt. J. W. Brunson gave it to Gov. Hayward who transmitted it to the General Assembly of South Carolina to "be placed among our most honored archives". (Confederate Veteran Vol. XXV, No. 5, P. 224, May 1917.)

2) David Gregg McIntosh, born March 16th, 1836 in Society Hill, S.C. (McIntosh Bible) and died Oct. 7th, 1916 at his home in Towson, Md. and is buried at Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, Va. (Pegram-McIntosh Bible in possession of

J. Rieman McIntosh, Monkton, Md. 1977). His early schooling was at St. David's Academy under Evander M. Griffin. He entered S. C. College from Darlington District Dec. 1852. Joined Euphradian Society, a debating society and Delta Kappa Epsilon Frat.; graduated in 1855 with A.B. degree (Alumni records Univ. of S.C.). He then studied law in the office of John A. Inglis of Cheraw and about 1860 began the practice of law in partnership with W. W. Harllee at Darlington Court House. This was terminated in 1961 by the beginning of the Civil War. He had a distinguished career in the Confederate service from the very beginning of the war until the surrender at Appomattox. He rose to the rank of colonel and was the last surviver of Gen. Lee's full Cols. of artillery in the Army of Northern Virginia. After the war he had an equally distinguished career in the profession of law in Towson, Md. and at one time was president of the Maryland State Bar Association. (For biographical sketch see Bench & Bar of Maryland Vol. II, P. 458.)

He married Virginia Johnson Pegram of Richmond, Va. on Nov. 8th, 1865. She was born in Richmond July 15th, 1843 and died at her apartment in Baltimore City, April 18th, 1920 (Pegram-McIntosh Bible). She is buried at Hollywood Cemetery, Richmond, Va. She was the daughter of James West Pegram and Virginia Johnson both of Virginia. Beside her never failing devotion to and care of her husband and children, she took an active part in the work of Trinity Episcopal Church, Towson, Md. and was also an active member of The Maryland Division United Daughters of The Confederacy.

3) James McIntosh, M.D., born Feb. 27th, 1838 in Society Hill (McIntosh Bible). He died Feb. 26th, 1919 in Newberry, S.C. (gravestone Rosemont Cemetary, Newberry). He studied at St. David's Academy under E. M. Griffin and entered S. C. College from Darlington Dist. 1854; joined Euphradian Society and Delta Kappa Epsilon Frat.; graduated in 1857 with A.B. degree; M.D. from Medical College of State of S.C. 1860. He entered the Confederate service as a private in Co. F. 8th Regt. S.C. Volunteers, and was commissioned Captain, Asst. Surgeon C.S.A. 1862. He was stationed at Charlottesville, Va. and served there until Feb. 1865. Then he returned to S.C. and settled at Newberry and practiced medicine there until 1892. He was president of the Newberry County Medical Society 1872; author of articles and reports of the annual meetings of the S.C. State Medical Assn. After he discontinued the practice of medicine, he organized the Newberry Savings Bank in 1892 and became its president. He turned most of his practice over to his son, Dr. James Higgins McIntosh in 1893 and gradually retired from the practice of medicine. (Alumni Records, Univ. of S.C. and letter of his grandson James McIntosh of Columbia, dated May 1st, 1950.)

He married 1st Frances Caldwell Higgins, Nov. 21st, 1862 (McIntosh Bible). She was born in Newberry Jan. 19th, 1837 and died Sept. 23rd, 1890 (gravestone Rosemont Cemetery). She was the daughter of Francis Bernard Higgins, born Oct. 22nd, 1794 and Elizabeth Ann Caldwell, born July 1803 who were married Oct. 12th, 1820 and are buried Rosemont Cemetery, Newberry. Elizabeth Ann Caldwell Higgins lived in Newberry with her daughter and son-in-law Dr. James McIntosh, ("Reminiscences of Newberry" by John B. Carwile 1890).

He married 2nd in 1893, Sarah Burt Rook (Boozer) a widow with one child, Arch Boozer, who died as a young man. His second wife was a niece of his first wife, therefore, she was the stepmother and also first cousin of Dr. James McIntosh's children by his first wife. She is buried Rosemont Cemetery. (Data given by James McIntosh, grandson of Dr. James McIntosh of Newberry.)

4) Edward McIntosh, born April 20th, 1840 in Society Hill, died June 6th, 1872 in Towson, Md. at the home of his brother David Gregg McIntosh (McIntosh Bible). He and his wife are buried in Trinity Episcopal Church-yard, Society Hill. He studied at St. David's Academy under E. M. Griffin; entered S.C. College from Darlington Dist. Dec. 1856; joined the Euphradian Society and Delta Kappa Epsilon Frat.; graduated with A.B. degree in 1859. He joined the Darlington Guards 1st S.C. Regiment and served at Charleston. Upon reorganization of the Regt. he entered his old Company, Capt. D. G. McIntosh's. He transferred to the artillery, was made Capt. and served throughout the war. (Univ. of S.C. Alumni Records). He married Dora E. Evans, Aug. 6th, 1867 (McIntosh Bible). She was born Aug. 28th, 1847 and died Oct. 20th, 1868. (Gravestone, Trinity Episcopal Church-yard, Society Hill.) There were no children.

5) Margaret Edwards McIntosh, born Sept. 9th, 1842, died July 10th, 1864 (McIntosh Bible). She is buried Welch Neck Baptist churchyard.

6) Lucas McIntosh, born at Society Hill July 7th, 1845, died at Columbia, Jan. 26th, 1901 (McIntosh Bible and gravestone Welch Neck Baptist Churchyard). He studied under E. M. Griffin at St. David's Academy and then attended Kings College Military School. At the age of 17, about 1863, he joined the Army of Northern Virginia and served in the 3rd Corps of that army until the surrender at Appomattox. He was a 1st Lt. acting in command of Clutter's battery of artillery at the end of the war and this battery is credited with firing the last shot of the war (family letters). He entered S. C. College from Darlington Dist. Sept. 1866 and was a member of the Euphradian Society. He left college in 1868 and became a farmer near Dovesville, S.C. until his death at the age of 56 yrs. (Alumni Records, S.C. Univ.). He married Rosa Evans Dec. 10th, 1874 who was a first cousin of Dora E. Evans, the wife of his brother Edward McIntosh. Rosa Evans was born Oct. 15th, 1849 and died March 21st, 1934 (McIntosh Bible and gravestones Welch Neck Baptist Church). She was the daughter of Edward Edwards Evans and Sally Chesnut Taylor. The latter was the daughter of Jane Wallace and John Chesnut Taylor, son of Governor John Taylor and Sarah Cantey Chesnut.

7) Martha McIntosh (Mattie), born at Society Hill, Sept. 29th, 1848 and died Oct. 16th, 1922 (gravestone Welch Neck Baptist Church). She received her formal education at St. David's Academy and at a boarding school for girls in Charleston, S.C. From early youth she took an active part in church work and teaching at Sunday School. She had her own horse and buggy and, with a friend, visited the poor to supply their needs. Her great wish was for missionary service on foreign soil. At 27 years of age she became the first Chairman of the first Central Committee to enlist Baptist women of S.C. in the mission field. Later she became Corresponding Secretary. Eventually she became the first President of the Baptist Woman's Missionary Union, Auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention. She married, Jan. 22nd, 1895, Theodore Percy Bell (McIntosh Bible) who was born in Beaufort, S.C., Feb. 23rd, 1852 and died Oct. 2nd, 1916 (gravestone Welch Neck Baptist Church). He was a widower with three daughters and was very active in foreign missions. He was Secty. of the Sunday School Board, vice pres. of the Foreign Missions Board and Editor of "The Christian Index" of Georgia. They lived in Atlanta until his death, after which Aunt Mattie Bell spent two years in China accompanied by her step-daughter Miss Ada Bell, thus she achieved her life-long ambition. (The above information is given in a phamphlet "A Century of Service; South Carolina Woman's Missionary Union 1875-1975" printed Sept. 1974.)

8) Murray McIntosh, born Society Hill, Nov. 19th, 1850 and died at the age of 20, Jan. 29th, 1871 (McIntosh Bible and gravestone Welch Neck Baptist Church). He is described as a bright and promising young man, but very little is known of his youth in Society Hill. In 1869 and 1870 he was a student at Washington College, Lexington, Va. (now Washington & Lee) when Gen. Lee was President. A letter dated June 28th, 1870 signed by Gen. Lee and addressed to Mrs. M. G. McIntosh (Martha Gregg), Society Hill, S.C. reads as follows:

"Dear Madam,

I have the pleasure of communicating to you the action of the Faculty of Washington College, commending your son, Murray McIntosh, for distinguished industry and success in his studies during his connection with this institution. The members of the Faculty all sympathize with him in his sickness, and regret his necessary absence.

With an earnest desire for his speedy restoration to health, and his future welfare,

I am, very respectfully

R. E. Lee"

The inference from this is that his illness would be terminal, but it is quite an honor to have this said of him by General Lee. (This letter is now in the possession of J. Rieman McIntosh, Monkton, Md. 1977.)

PART II

COL. DAVID GREGG McINTOSH, C.S.A.

She was known as a very beautiful and charming young woman, having many friends in both Richmond and Baltimore where she took part in the activities of young people of her age. In the 1890's she was in the performance of the Queen Louise Fete and probably other amateur theatricals. Sometime in her twenties she contracted tuberculosis and the last years of her life were spent in a courageous, but losing battle, to overcome the disease.

Margaret McIntosh, b. Aug. 7th, 1870 at Towson, Md., d. April 10th, 1942 in Richmond, Va. (Pegram-McIntosh Bible). She was educated at private schools in Baltimore and during her youth often visited her aunt Mrs. Joseph R. Anderson, in Richmond. After her marriage she lived in Richmond and took a prominent part in the social and civic life of that city. She was an organizer of the Crippled Childrens Hospital and became its first president, a position she held for many years. During World War I she was president of the Instructive Visiting Nurses Assn. As a communicant of St. Paul's Episcopal Church she was always active in church organizations. School for Boys in Baltimore, graduating 1895. He then attended Johns Hopkins University where he was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and graduated A.B. in 1898. He took his law degree at the University of Maryland in 1900. Admitted to the bar in that year, he began practice with his father in Towson. Later he formed a partnership with James F. Thrift under the style of McIntosh & Thrift with which firm he continued until his death. He was a successful and highly esteemed lawyer. As a Democrat he took an active part in Maryland politics. In 1913 he was elected to the House of Delegates and twice re-elected, serving as Speaker of the House in the war session of 1917. In 1919 he was elected to the State Senate and re-elected in 1923, 1926 and 1930. He was president of the Senate in 1924, 1927 and 1929 and in that capacity, under the state constitution, acted as Lieutenant Governor of Maryland. After retiring from the Senate in 1933, he continued active in state and county politics. Throughout his career he was a fearless advocate of the principal of local self-government and states rights. He opposed radification of the 18th Amendment. Many constructive legislative acts bore the stamp of his authorship or had the benefit of his active support. As president of the Senate he proved himself a dignified, fair and able presiding officer and throughout his legislative career was a conscientious, faithful and efficient public servant. He was vice-president and director of the Second National Bank of Towson; a member of the Baltimore County Bar Assn. (Pres. in 1928) and for 38 years he was a vestryman of Trinity Church, Towson. His favorite sport was fox hunting on horseback behind a pack of hounds. He helped to organize and was president (1920-1934) of the Elkridge Hounds Inc. He married Charlotte Lowe Rieman, Feb. 15th, 1905 at the First Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, Md. (Rieman-McIntosh Bible). She was born April 16th, 1880 and died Nov. 19th, 1967 (ibid). She and her husband are buried in the cemetery at St. Thomas's Church, Garrison Forest, Md. Charlotte Rieman was the daughter of Joseph Henry Rieman, merchant of Baltimore 1822-1897 (gravestone Green Mount Cemetary) and Ann Lowe of Dayton, Ohio 1837-1911 (ibid). governor chairman of the Womans Preparedness and Survey Commission for Baltimore County, later known as Women's Council of Defense. When the latter organization was disbanded after the war, she succeeded in turning the organization over to the Childrens Aid Society of the county thus gaining for it the support of active units in each election district. In 1926 she was elected to the Board of Managers of the Maryland Society of Colonial Dames and was treasurer 1927-1933. PART III of Newberry, S.C.

The children of Dr. James McIntosh and Frances Caldwell Higgins, his first wife:

Martha Athalinda Gregg McIntosh, born Newberry, S.C. Oct. 20th, 1863 (McIntosh Bible) and died Oct. 28th, 1944 in Charleston, S.C. She and her husband are buried in Riverview Cemetery, Charleston. She married George Bradley Buell, June 10th, 1897 in Charleston. He was born in Lake City, Minn. Dec. 10th, 1860 and died in Charleston June 25th, 1942. He was the son of Jesse Buell and Marion Doe. Martha Gregg McIntosh was a member of the Rebecca Moote Chapter, D.A.R., in Charleston. Their children were: George Bradley Buell, Jr., born Sept. 22nd, 1900; Marion Elizabeth Buell, born March 9th, 1904.

James Higgins McIntosh M.D. born Oct. 3rd, 1866 (McIntosh Bible) in Newberry, S.C. and died Sept. 2nd, 1944 in Columbia, S.C. He and his wife are buried in Elmwood Cemetery, Columbia. After graduating from Newberry Academy he entered Newberry College and graduated in 1884 at the age of 17 with an A.B. degree. He then studied chemistry and psychology at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, Md. 1884-1886 and was a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity. He graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, New York City in 1888 with an M.D. degree. Following this he accepted a position for two years on the staff of Bellevue Hospital, New York City, where during his last year he was associated with the Society for the Lying-In. It was largely through his efforts that the original Broome Street Dispensary became a success and a permanent lying-in institution. He then practiced medicine in his native town of Newberry for 10 years taking over much of the practice of his father Dr. James McIntosh in 1892. In April 1900 he moved to Columbia where he first associated with Dr. Benjamin Taylor. He soon went into practice for himself and established a large and active practice of medicine for 42 years.

In Columbia, Dr. McIntosh quickly took a place of leadership in the medical and civic life of the State Capital. He served as examining physician of the local draft board during World War I. From 1903 to 1937 he was state referee for the Mutual Life Insurance Co. of New York and for a number of years he was chief of the medical staff of the Baptist Hospital. He was also the author of many outstanding medical papers. Dr. McIntosh received many honors from organizations of his profession. He served as president of the Columbia Medical Society, the Seventh District Medical Assn. of S.C., the South Carolina State Medical Assn., the Association of Surgeons of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway and the Tri-State Medical Assn. of the Carolinas and Virginia of which he was an organizer and energetic supporter. In 1942 the Columbia Medical Society presented him with a silver service "in appreciation of a life spent unselfishly in the service of humanity". His patients and friends gave witness to their love and esteem by presenting an oil portrait of him to the Columbia Hospital (now Richland Memorial Hospital). Perhaps best of all, he won a unique place in the affections of the community as an outstanding family doctor.

He married Frances Nance Baxter, Nov. 2nd, 1892. She was born Dec. 10th, 1870 in Newberry and died Jan. 3rd, 1930 in Columbia. She was the daughter of James M. Baxter of Laurens Co., S.C. (1825-1881) and Frances Caldwell Nance of Newberry (1932-1896). She received her early education at the Newberry Female Academy, but because of the hard times resulting from the Civil War and Reconstruction she did not go away to school. At the age of 17 she assisted her future sister-in-law Martha Gregg McIntosh (Mattie) in teaching at a small private school. Then followed three years of teaching in the new public school at Newberry. By the time she was 25 both her parents and only brother had died. In spite of the loss of her nearest relatives, she faced life with great courage and faith. Her life was devoted to her husband and the care and raising of their eight children all but one of whom lived to maturity. She became an expert cook, made clothes for the children and taught them by reading from the Bible and from the best of English literature. She also instructed them in mathematics and grammar so that they were well advanced in school. She and her husband were able to send seven children to college even though the income of a family doctor with a large practice was very limited in those days. Frances Baxter McIntosh's interests were not confined to the home. Sometimes she accompanied her husband to out-of-state medical meetings. She was a member of the Assembly and also was a working member of the P.T.A. She took part in the activities of the First Baptist Church; was a member of Wade Hampton Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy and the Columbia Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. The children of Dr. James Higgins McIntosh and Frances Nance Baxter were: James McIntosh, b. May 6th, 1895; Baxter McIntosh, b. April 30, 1897; Frances McIntosh, b. Oct. 2nd, 1898; Lucy McIntosh, b. Dec. 16th, 1899; Martha McIntosh, b. July 28th, 1901; Dorothy McIntosh, b. June 1st, 1903; Walter Hunt McIntosh, b. Aug. 16th, 1907; Nancy McGowan McIntosh, b. June 28th, 1910.

Francis Bernard McIntosh (Frank), born May 9th, 1868 in Newberry and died May ~~16th~~, 1916 in Tampa, Florida. He graduated from Newberry College and worked in Columbia for a wholesale produce company and then an insurance firm. About 1905 he and his family moved to Tampa and made that their home. Tradewell McIntosh, b. Dec. 21st, 1898 in Columbia; Bernard McIntosh, b. 1902, d. 1904; Mary Fielding McIntosh (Polly), b. 1906 Tampa, Florida.

Edward Lachlan McIntosh, b. March 19th, 1872 in Newberry. He was a graduate of the Citadel and served in the Spanish-American War 1898 where his health was impaired and he was never well afterwards. The story is told of him that while at the Citadel he was one of a group of students who drew a caricature of one of the professors on a sheet and ran it up on the flag pole at night. The sheet got caught and remained up for several days until a sailor from the Navy Yard could be found to climb the pole. Edward confessed to his part, but would not reveal the names of the other students. However he was expelled. Meantime General Wm. T. Sherman died, but it was impossible to fly the flag at half mast. Edward's father, Dr. James McIntosh of Newberry and some others, felt that Edward had indirectly rendered the State of S.C. a service in view of the bitter memories of General Sherman and his devastating march through South Carolina. Since Edward had not lied about his part in the escapade nor incriminated others, he was later reinstated.

He married Laura Haley and they lived in Florida. He died in 1906 and is buried in Rosemont Cemetery, Newberry, S.C. They had no children.

At the very early age of 14 she was thought able to enter college and went to live with her aunt Martha McIntosh (Mattie) in Nashville, Tennesseewhere she entered Peabody. There she took a two-year teachers course and at the age of 16 began teaching school at St. George, S.C. She never taught more than one or two years at any particular place. She taught at Ridge Springs, S.C. and at Newberry, S.C. While at the latter place she lived with her uncle Dr. James McIntosh. Other than her family, her chief interests were the Daughters of the American Revolution and the United Daughters of the Confederacy and what was then known as the Civic League. On June 19th, 1907 she married James Alexander Spruill (Evans Bible) of Washington County, N.C. who was born Sept. 22nd, 1876 and died March 4th, 1956. He was always interested in public service; served as Mayor of Cheraw and was Chairman of the School Board. He also served in the South Carolina House of Representatives and the State Senate. He engaged in the lumber and building materials business until about 1936 when he retired from business and bought the Lucas McIntosh plantation which he farmed with great pleasure and considerable success until shortly before his death. Their children were: James Alexander Spruill Jr., b. May 30th, 1908; Rosa Evans Spruill, b. ; Louisa McIntosh Spruill, b. Feb. 5th, 1913. (Except where otherwise noted, dates and information supplied by J. A. Spruill Jr., 1977.)

James Lucas McIntosh, born Sept. 21st, 1880 and died May 20th, 1972 (gravestone Grove Hill Cemetery, Darlington, S.C.). He married first Florence Ward Manigault on April 18th, 1906 (Evans Bible). She was born March 24th, 1881 and died July 18th, 1930 (Grove Hill Cemetery). She was a descendant of Gabriel Manigault who settled in S.C. after the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes *. His second wife was Alma DeLeon, born Aug. 21st, 1885 and died Oct. 21st, 1968 (Grove Hill Cemetery). James L. McIntosh was born in Society Hill and received his early education at local schools. He entered South Carolina College where he was a star football player, but he was compelled to leave college very soon because of his father's death in 1901. James, then 21 years old, went to work at once on his father's plantation to support his mother and younger sisters. This plantation, first known as "Horse Branch", was owned by his grandfather James Hawes McIntosh. It then appears to have passed to James's son, Lucas McIntosh, since he was the only son who remained in Society Hill and it was usually referred to as the Lucas McIntosh plantation. James Lucas McIntosh farmed this plantation and eventually owned it by purchasing the interests of the other members of the family. He was industrious and a hard worker so that he succeeded very well in the field of agriculture. In March of 1916 he became interested in Guernsey cattle. He first acquired three registered cows and later nine more and an imported bull from Burkeville, Va. This was the beginning of the herd that became known as "Clover Farm Guernseys", a name he used for the dairy operations on the plantation. In April 1917 he became the first member of the American Guernsey Cattle Club from S.C. In the spring of 1918 he acquired a herd of 40 head from A. G. Ingram of Burkeville, Va. and also the services of Mr. Ingram as manager. He then became the first Guernsey breeder from the south to enter his herd in competition north of the Ohio River and west of the Mississippi. The very creditable showing made by Clover Farm Guernseys directed national attention to South Carolina Guernseys. In 1920 the herd was shown on an extensive circuit of state fairs including Ohio State Fair, Illinois State Fair, Missouri State Fair, Memphis Tri State Fair, Alabama State Fair, South Carolina State Fair, Savannah Tri State Exposition, Florida State Fair, Southeastern Fair, West Virginia State Fair, Tennessee State Fair, Kentucky State Fair, and the Mississippi-Alabama Fair. He was awarded 380 ribbons including 7 Grand Champions 9 Junior Champions, 131 Firsts, 166 Seconds, and 26 Thirds. In the spring of 1921 Clemson College awarded him a certificate of achievement for the significant contributions he made toward advancement of agricultural interests in South Carolina. He was a life member of the South Carolina Fair Association and served as superintendent of the Cattle Dept. and also as president. He also served as president of the S.C. Guernsey Cattle Club in the early 1920s. The disruption of the agricultural economy of S.C. in the 1920s and early 1930s, as well as the great national depression of that period made it necessary for him to discontinue the breeding of Guernsey cattle and to sell his land. Added to this was the tragedy of having his home and all its valuable contents completely destroyed by fire May 17th, 1927 and the death of his first wife in 1930. After leaving the field of agriculture and breeding of cattle, he engaged in the operation of an accounting and tax consultant service in Florence, S.C.

The children of James L. McIntosh and Florence Ward Manigault were: Lucas McIntosh, b. Dec. 24th, 1907; James Lucas McIntosh, Jr., b. April 11th, 1909; Florence McIntosh, b. Aug. 16th, 1913; Henry Manigault McIntosh, b. May 20th, 1918.

Chesnut Evans McIntosh, born June 15th, 1882 in Dovesville, S.C. and died in Florence, S.C. May 1st, 1949. She was married Feb. 23rd, 1916 to Raymond George Donald (Evans Bible) who was born June 27th, 1881 and died Feb. 9th, 1962. They are buried in Grove Hill Cemetery, Darlington, S.C. Chesnut Evans McIntosh attended Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S.C. 1899-1901. She then entered upon a career as a teacher and for fifteen years she taught in many different towns in South Carolina and also in Kentucky and Georgia. She enjoyed the challenge of new locations therefore she moved frequently. After her marriage she became very interested in gardening and was successful in raising beautiful flowers. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church, Darlington.

Raymond George Donald was born in Kingsport, Nova Scotia and was the eldest son of Alexander Grant Donald and Annie Laurie Webster. Alexander Grant Donald was a very successful farmer all his life and cultivated a great variety of crops. Because of the severe climate he left Nova Scotia in 1901 and settled in Maine where he specialized in growing apples. Finding Maine still too severe he moved in 1904 to Edgewater Park, N.J. where he introduced the culture of peaches to N.J. and became a very successful grower of peaches and apples on his "Scotia Farms".

His son, Raymond George Donald also became a horticulturist and farmer. While living in N.J. he attended Kings Business College in Philadelphia. In 1906 he moved to Society Hill, S.C. where he established a peach orchard in Chesterfield County. Later he purchased part of "Round O Plantation" in Darlington County and became a pioneer pecan grower. Interested in experimental farming, he was a successful grower and shipper of asparagus. In addition he planted the traditional crops of tobacco, cotton and corn.

Mr. Donald was the first director of Farmers Home Administration in Darlington County, a position he held for many years and was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Darlington. He was first married to Mary McIver Lucas of Society Hill. She and her infant son died in Sept. 1914. He is survived by the four children of his marriage to Chesnut Evans McIntosh. They are: Mary Lucas Donald, b. Dec. 2nd, 1916; Raymond George Donald, Jr., b. Feb. 23rd, 1918; Annie Laurie Donald, b. April 14th, 1919; and Alexander Grant Donald M.D., b. Jan. 24th, 1928. (The above information was supplid by Annie Laurie Donald Cooper, 1977.)

Rosa Evans McIntosh, born May 5th, 1884 and died Aug. 5th, 1972 in Darlington, S.C. After attending local schools she entered Winthrop College for two years and then, at an early age, started teaching school at Liberty Hill, S.C. After her marriage she devoted most of her time to the care and raising of her children. By the time her youngest child was in fifth grade, she resumed teaching and continued to do so until her retirement at the age of 65 years. Having observed the lack of good children's books in the homes of her second grade pupils, she organized and ran a Childrens Book Shop in her home in Darlington for many years until her death. She also taught Sunday School and sang in the church choir. She married William Edwin Dargan III, Dec. 3rd, 1908 (Evans Bible) who was born July 20th, 1885. He attended Furman College in Greenville, S.C. for a short time, but farming was his greatest interest so he soon returned home and was an excellent farmer until his early death Dec. 6th, 1918 at the age of 33 years. He and his wife are buried in Grove Hill Cemetery, Darlington. Their children are: Rosa Evans Dargan, b. Aug. 26th, 1909; William Edwin Dargan IV, b. Oct. 7th, 1912; Mary Hart Dargan, b. May 3rd, 1915; Lucas McIntosh Dargan, b. July 18th, 1917. (The above information was supplied by her son Lucas McIntosh Dargan, 1977.)

Martha McIntosh (Patty), born May 9th, 1888 and died Nov. 26th, 1967 (gravestone Welch Neck Baptist churchyard). At first she attended school in Dovesville in a little white two story frame building. Later she was taught at home by her mother and sister Louisa to avoid the long treck from Horse Branch Plantation. After attending public school only four years she entered Winthrop College, Rock Hill, S.C. In her third year at Winthrop her mother suffered a stroke and being the last remaining unmarried daughter she left college to take care of her mother. During these years she was able to ride her horse at first on a side saddle and then cross saddle. This was a pleasure she enjoyed most of her life. She married Robert Watson Timmerman of Ridge Spring, S.C. on June 6th, 1918 (Evans Bible). He was born Oct. 12th, 1888 and died Feb. 3rd, 1940 (gravestone Welch Neck Baptist churchyard). He was the son of Morris Timmerman and Elizabeth Watson daughter of Col. Robert Briggs Watson and Lucy McIver of Society Hill. He was first educated at the Citadel because his father had been a graduate there, but he did not care for military school and after one year transferred to Furman. When World War I started he joined the Navy and so did not graduate from college. He later attended Bliss Electrical School and worked as an electrician all of his life. He lived in north Charleston most of his life except for some years in Florida. He was greatly interested in amateur photography and did all his own developing and printing.
